Africa Calls

Next Assignment: Tanzania For Former Sydenham Teacher

By REG WHITTY

David Gault, a former member of Sydenham High School teaching staff, with his wife and family, will be leaving at the end of August for Africa to serve in Tanzania, under the external aid department of the government.

For the past year, Mr. Gault has been a science teacher at Central Secondary School in Stratford.

The Gaults are presently holidaying and visiting relatives in the Kingston area, before spending a few days in Ottawa to be given an intensive briefing about Tanzania, from people who have just returned. The Gault family includes two sons and two daughters, David Jr. five; Malcom, eight months; Diane, three and Carolyn, two.

They point out a move overseas may seem complicated but there are really only three things to do, which are not part of a move in Canada. These are immunization against a variety of tropical diseases, learning about living conditions in the new land and deciding what to take with them.

Their tickets for air travel have been purchased for them and they are also given travel allowance. All the moving costs and storage except insurance are met by the department.

When they arrive at their destination they expect to be living in Oyster Bay, a European suburb of Dar-es-Salaam. They expect to be provided with a simply furnished house or apartment.

Public transportation is available in small station cars, trolley cars and buses, and differences there, Mr. Gault points out that when a student reaches university level he does not necessarily have a choice of courses. If more chemists or engineers are needed, the student will be put into these courses as opposed to going into law or arts. He sums up the main difference as in Ontario education is an established fact whereas in Tanzania, it still is only for a select number.

Bagpipers Greet Return of Lindsays

The eighth annual Lindsay family reunion at Loughboro Memorial Recreation Centre, was attended by 110 members of the clan.

Addresses represented were from the states of Michigan and New Jersey, Scarborough, Stratford, Ottawa, Pembroke, Perth, Kingston, Yarker, Inverary and Sydenham.

In recognition of the family's distinctive Scottish ancestry, a kilted Highland piper, John Mawhinney of Kingston serenaded each car load of guests as they arrived.

Another guest musician, Susan Tugman of Sydenham played the lilting Scottish and Irish songs on her accordion and accompanied for a lively sing-song of oldtime favorites.

Following a basket dinner, served smorgasbord style under the convenership of Mrs. Oscar Lindsay of Sydenham, an official welcome was extended by the 1967 committee chairman, Fred Buck of Kingston. A telegram from Mrs. Harold Cudney of Welland, was read, expressing regret at being unable to attend.

In a brief business session the 1968 reunion committee was appointed. Members are: Oscar Lindsay, chairman, Kenneth Freeman, Gordon Lindsay, Glenn Snook, with Miss Marion Lindsay continuing as secretary.

While the adults were catching up on various family happenings since last year's reunion the children were delighted with the pony rides, provided by Morley Holmes.

'Normal' Trade Exists

governments, "normal" trade Correspondent)

JERUSALEM — Secretly, unofficially, but with full consent of the Israeli and Jordanian governments, "normal" trade now exists between Israel and Jordan — for the first time since Israel was created in 1948.

This is one reason why Israel has made the Jordanian dinar legal currency beside the Israeli pound on the Jordan river's Israeli - occupied West-Bank, up - valued the dinar from 7.40 to 8.20 Israeli pounds, and let it be changed at this rate by all Israeli banks.

What is happening every night on the Jordan river's West Bank under cover of the strict night curfew is not smuggling, but "normal" trade between the Israeli - occupied area, and Jordan. Every night, dozens of trucks drive from the West Bank's Arab farms into Jordan, carrying the agricultural products which are vital for the Jordanians.

These trucks ford the Jordan river at a narrow, shallow place near where according to Christian tradition Jesus was baptized. On the Jordanian East Bank, tractors are waiting to drag clear any trucks which get stuck in the river.

From the Jordan river, the trucks drive to Amman, where the Arab peasants sell their food. During the next night, they drive back along the same route to the Israeli - occupied West Bank. Many of the returning trucks contain cheap cloth, cigarettes, ball point pens, canisters with gasoline, and other goods. If these goods are discovered by the Israelis, the Arabs must pay Israeli duty on them. But even then they are still cheaper than similar goods in Tel-Aviv and Haifa.

Only the Israelis decide how often these goods are discovered.

Arabs on the Israeli - occupied West Bank say they must pay for the right to cross the Jordan river. They don't want to know exactly who is responsible for that.

Bank all Arab refugees—their number is estimated between 100,000 and 150,000 — who fled across the Jordan river between June 5 and July 4. For this, it gave the International Red Cross questionnaires to be filled in by the refugees. But the Jordanian government prevented the distribution of these questionnaires, because they were headed by the words "State of Israel."

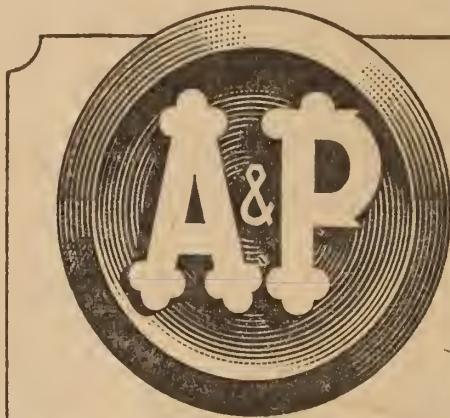

This deadlock was broken when the International Red Cross got official representatives of Israel and Jordan to the same negotiating table. Both sides accepted the compromise that new questionnaires should be headed "State of Israel" and "Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan."

A prominent Israeli told me happily: "This is a success for us, because we were always ready to recognize the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan. We were always far more willing to do this than Nasser! At any time since 1948 negotiated with Kingdom of Jordan. If King not started a war June 5, he would the whole West Bank Old City of Jerusalem."

Much of the growing resistance on the Israeli-occupied West Bank is Egypt. Just as before which was so difficult for him, King Hussein is under pressure from Nasser.

Nowadays, very few stores offer you bean coffee.

Why does A&P still offer coffees in the bean?

Basically, because "We Care."

Specifically, because we know these facts:

A haven may be defined as "a shelter or place of safety". The 1958 edition of "Canadian Havens from Hay Fever" published by the Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, supplies information on hay fever and where places of safety may be found in Ontario. Surveys were conducted by the department at some forty-six places in the Province between 1950 and 1957 to determine the prevalence of pollen spores conducive to hay fever.

All areas north of North Bay, as well as some areas in Muskoka and Parry Sound well removed from railways, farmland and highways, may be considered a safe retreat for the hay fever sufferer. There is no safe haven from hay fever in Old Ontario.

Descendants of Dashing Soldier, The Lindsays Gather at Sydenham

SYDENHAM — The Canadian branch of a family clan, with members living in almost every country of the world, gathered in Sydenham for their annual family reunion.

Many of those present are direct descendants of James Lindsay — the dashing young Scottish soldier who fought in the army of "Bonnie Prince Charlie" and almost lost his head, for his participation in the losing cause.

James Lindsay was pardoned providing he leave the country. He lost no time in departing and eventually settled in County Antrim, Northern Ireland. His grandson, John Lindsay, emigrated to this country in 1824, thus bringing an historic name to the new world of Upper Canada.

He arrived in Kingston and learned the shoe making trade in a small shop on the market square. He married Margaret Ballantyne, whose family had also come over from Northern Ireland. Their marriage was solemnized in 1832 in old St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Princess St. at Clergy St. He established his shoe making business in Barriefield, living there for several years. The family later lived in Loughboro Township, moving from there to Collins Lake in Storrington Township and finally settling at Opinicon.

John Lindsay died in 1890 at the age of 82. His body was buried in Opinicon Cemetery. There were eight members of his family.

Descendants of the Lindsays that remained in Scotland emigrated to the United States. A representative of the group that settled in North Carolina, is John Lindsay, mayor of New York City, who is said to be aspiring for governor of New York State and a possible future Republican nominee for the U.S. presidency.

The comprehensive genealogy of the Lindsay clan was compiled by Dr. G. C. Lindsay of Kingston, a great grandson of the Irish immigrant boy of 1824. Every family present at the picnic received a copy of their colorful historic background.

Oscar Lindsay of Sydenham another great grandson of the first John Lindsay in Canada, was master of ceremonies for the day's program.

Mr. Lindsay announced that Edward Lindsay of Ohio, newly elected president of Lions International, would be in Kingston in September. While here he hopes to meet as many as possible of his Canadian cousins.

The breadth of the family connections was emphasized by pictures and letters from Rev. Garth Hunt, a missionary in Viet Nam. These were shown by his mother, Mrs. W. W. Hunt of Pembroke. Mrs. Hunt is the former Evelyn Lindsay, a daughter of the late Rev. Samuel Lindsay.

Numerous prizes were awarded. The lucky number attendance prize was won by Miss Kathy Wilson of Thomasburg. The person travelling the longest distance was Mrs. W. R. Fellows of Dearborn, Michigan. Ross Lindsay of Cortland, N.Y., captured the award for the man coming the greatest distance. The couple celebrating their wedding anniversary nearest to the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lindsay of Sydenham. The youngest person present was Sheila Leadbeater of Kingston and the second youngest was Bruce Stalkie of Pembroke.

Pony rides were enjoyed by the children, provided by Morley Holmes of Sydenham.

The 81 people attending represented addresses in Dearborn, Michigan; Mountain Lakes, New Jersey; Cortland, N.Y.; Toronto, Ottawa, Pembroke, Belleville, Lindsay, Thomasburg, Yarker, Kingston, Inverary, Perth Road and Sydenham.

The committee for the 1967 reunion will be: Fred Buck, Ralph Lindsay, both of Kingston; John Johnston, Toronto; Oscar Lindsay, Gordon Lindsay, Frank Lindsay and Carl Kellar all of Sydenham.

Miss Marion Lindsay of Inverary was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

INCREASE COMING

LONDON (Reuters)—Charges on freight moving in British ships between Britain and North America will be increased next year, it was learned Monday. An extra 10 per cent will be added to current rates to Canadian St. Lawrence and Maritime ports from Jan. 1 and proportionate increases will be made in rates to the Canadian Great Lakes ports from the start of the 1967 seaway season.

TORONTO (CP)—More than 20 policemen were called to midtown Stanley Park Tuesday night to quell a disturbance at a National Soccer League game between Toronto Hellas and Toronto Hungaria.

Referee Hugh Morrow was attacked by some of the 2,000 fans in attendance after he called the game with a minute remaining in the first half when the players got out of hand. Hungaria was leading 1-0.
